5. Players legitimation

Only official team members are allowed to play. Team-license (team-passport) is necessary. If a player or whole team is not on the CMAS license list before the Champions Cup starts, the person or team has the possibility to play by issuing a penalty license. The license is issued by the underwater rugby commission representative at the Champions Cup. To get a penalty license each player has to prove club membership and a fee of 15 EUR has to be paid for each player. The underwater rugby commission will make random checks after the Champions Cup, among all the players participating, to check if the information given is correct. If a club is caught cheating it is disqualified from the tournament. Its position will be eliminated from the final result list. Also players on the approved CMAS sports license list can be checked after the Champions Cup to established club membership. If a player or team has not got their CMAS sport license in time from ROME (although if they have requested issued them in time), we shall give them the chance to play the cup. They will of course have to pay the penalty fee at the Champions Cup, but will get it refunded after the Champions Cup if they can prove that they have requested them in time and their names appear on the CMAS sports license list. This will be arranged by the CMAS commission.
